

Why are we introducing a new documentation site?

We have recently moved our product documentation to a new home. We thought we'd take a second to explain!

The new and improved site offers a higher quality of documentation and better user experience:

- Excellent search engine, making it easier for you to find answers to your questions
- Improved browsing experience, helping you navigate through our content
- More comprehensive product documentation
- Embedded code samples
- Better links, directly to headers/sections
- More responsive platform, allowing us to make improvements and updates quickly

We recommend that you update your saved browser bookmarks to pages in the new documentation site, because the old documentation site (support.nearmap.com) will be disabled in the near future.

Check out our documentation:

- Nearmap Docs home
- MapBrowser
- Account Management
- APIs
- Integrations

We hope you enjoy using the new docs site, and more importantly, we hope you find the answers you need.

If you have any feedback on the new look and content, please don't hesitate to get in touch with us at support@nearmap.com.

Happy browsing!